

The Association of the Croatian Language Teachers in Victoria has been established in the late seventies. The Association worked closely with the Institute of Croatian Language and Parents Association in the long crusade for the recognition of the Croatian Language.

Croatian Language was recognised in 1980 by Victorian Government.

The Association of the Croatian Language Teachers in Victoria has played an integral part in developing and implementing Croatian Language programs for primary and secondary school for many years. It has continued to work closely with the teachers to promote and develop better and more accessible programs for mainstream Australians who wish to learn Croatian.

Professional Development are part of our vision so teachers take turns in organising the relevant PD for teachers to keep them up to date with the new teaching practices.
